

RELNKS Launches Digital Homebuying in Alberta

MARCH 3, 2021 – RELNKS, the innovative digital homebuying platform, is pleased to announce its official expansion into a third Canadian market, Alberta. As of today, homebuyers and real estate professionals in the province can access the RELNKS digital marketplace and simplify their road to homeownership.

Following successful releases in Ontario and British Columbia, RELNKS is now expanding their homebuying platform throughout Alberta. Homebuyers interested in purchasing property in the province can create a free account today and find instant access to the wide variety of service providers, resources and links that are needed for every step of the homebuying process. The platform will be localized to the province and give local businesses a new platform to grow their audience. Albertan real estate agents and mortgage professionals will be able to use RELNKS to connect with clients and offer a digital solution for their business.

“We are proud to be expanding our services to our third province in Canada, growing our network and offering new possibilities for Alberta homebuyers and real estate professionals,” said Tom McCormick, President and CEO of RELNKS and The Nationwide Group. “We have been looking forward to our Alberta expansion for some time and are excited to offer locals and soon-to-be locals a way to simplify their process and reduce stress. We hope to make a great impact on the market and continue to demonstrate a better approach to homebuying.”

RELNKS is now fully available to the public in Alberta. Further expansions to be announced in future releases.
